EXPECT HARDING TO O.K. BONUS BILL

Simmons Amendment Planned to Meet His Objection as to Source of Funds—Bill Due to Pass Late Today.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 30.—As passage of the soldiers' bonus bill by the senate today was considered probable, Republican and Democratic senators supporting it, expressed the belief that whatever objection President Harding had to it, had been met by the adoption of the Simmons amendment providing that interest received on the foreign debt to the United States be used to compensate ex-service men.

The expectation that Great Britain will pay the first installment of interest on her debt before the bill becomes operative January 1, 1923, and the latest declaration of Premier Lloyd George that it is Great Britain's intention to discharge in full her obligations to this country, helped to encourage senatorial advocates of the measure in their opinion that the amendment would meet the president's approval and cause him to sign the bill.

The adoption of the McNary land reclamation provision, which would permit ex-service men to acquire farms and homesteads on reclaimed arid and swamp areas in the west and south, would also be helpful, its supporters thought, in avoiding the danger of a presidential veto which anti-bonus senators asserted was impending.

Passage of the bill before the end of the day by a majority sufficient to convince the president that sentiment in the senate is overwhelmingly in its favor, was confidently predicted, although anti-bonus senators said they were still depending upon the president to withhold his approval from it despite the adoption of the Simmons and McNary amendments.

MELLIHAN ONLY FLIRTED WITH HELEN BRODHEAD

Youth Brought Here From Catskill For Questioning.

Joseph Mellihan was brought to this city Tuesday afternoon and taken before District Attorney Traver to tell what he knew about Helen Brodhead who disappeared from her home here and was found at the Smith House, Catskill, and brought back to Kingston. Mellihan stated that his home was on Long Island and that he was stopping with friends at Catskill, opposite the Smith House. That Sunday through flirtation he took Miss Brodhead on an automobile ride that evening. That she said she was a cashier with a carnival company that had been at Catskill during the week and that the carnival had left. It was understood that the manager of the Smith House also said one of the carnival men who had brought her to the hotel had alleged she was connected with the carnival. Mellihan after being questioned was allowed to go as his story that he did not know the girl until after the flirtation was corroborated by friends who reside in Catskill and with whom he is stopping. At the sheriff's office it was said that the Brodhead girl when last seen in this city boarded one of the automobiles and went to Saugerties.

NEAR-MURDER AT BRICKYARDS IN MALDEN

Saturday at Staples's brickyard, Malden, a near-murder was committed, when Mrs. Jones, a colored lady, carried up her husband, Sam. From what could be learned a number of colored women visited at the home of the Joneses and Sam was paying more attention to them than his spouse cared for and so she immediately started on a cutting and hacking spree. After striking him on the head with a hatchet she carved the apparently lifeless body with a potato knife. Following the butchering she made an exit and hasn't been seen since. Dr. R. F. Dierling of Saugerties attended Sam and used between 40 and 50 stitches to get his head and face closed up. Although severely slashed he will recover.

TRIAL OF SAUGERTIES FORGERIES CASES THURSDAY

Because of the unavoidable absence of Attorney Grant M. Brinnier, the case of The People against William Fields, Jr., arrested for the forging of a check in Saugerties, was postponed until Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

There were two forgeries recently in Saugerties and indications are that Fields may be the forger of the other check. Both checks are in the hands of the Saugerties authorities and the handwriting is practically the same. Leslie Elwyn, town clerk of Woodstock, who cashed the check, stated that Fields resembled the chap who cashed the check.

S. H. S. Students Lucky.

The Saugerties High School has 50 tons of coal in its bins, (its capacity), and therefore is prepared for emergencies up to the time when the prevailing acute coal situation will be relieved.

Irish Bombs Kill Children.

JOHNSON WINS IN CALIFORNIA

With Half of Returns in He Leads by 25,000 and Can Hardly Be Headed—Close Race for Gubernatorial Nomination.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Francisco, Aug. 30.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson today emerged victorious in one of the hottest political fights of his career. California has renominated the fighting senator, although Charles Moore, his opponent for the Republican nomination, has not conceded defeat. Returns gathered from all over the state early today left no doubt as to the winner.

With returns from something like half of the state in today, Johnson was leading Moore by about 25,000. More complete returns were necessary to definitely fix the Johnson majority, but it will run close to 70,000, his managers estimated. Moore carried southern California. According to the latest figures he carried the city and county of Los Angeles by at least 8,000. However, Johnson was able to cut down his lead in other southern California counties with the result that Moore probably may not come north of Tehachapi with more than 5,000.

Johnson has swept northern California, carrying San Francisco by about 18,000; Alameda county by 5,000 to 6,000; Sacramento by 7,000, and smaller counties accordingly. It is on these figures that Johnson's managers expect him to roll up a majority of 70,000.

The big surprise of the primary election was the showing of Friend W. Richardson for governor. Opposing the present governor, W. D. Stephens, Richardson at present state treasurer and president of the State Editors' Association, was running Stephens a close race and it may require an official count to determine the result.

Richardson made a surprising showing in southern California and it was reported that Ku Klux Klan influence was thrown against Governor Stephens, who has taken a strong stand against the "invisible empire," materially affecting the race.

POLICE TOLD OF GIRL LEAVING SAUGERTIES HOME

Local police headquarters received word from Saugerties Tuesday night that Stella Lowther was missing from that village. It was stated she had come to Kingston on the Saugerties bus and had alighted from the bus at the Kingston Hotel on Crown street, the bus terminal. That was the last seen of her. She had left a note at her home that she had gone to seek employment. The missing girl is 22 years old, 5 feet, 3 inches in height, and weighs 135 pounds. She has blue eyes and a medium complexion and when last seen wore a navy blue suit, grey necktie and black slippers. She had formerly been employed as an office assistant.

TO COMPLETE NEWBURGH ROAD VIA NEW PALTZ

The Highway Commissioner of the State will advertise in September for bids to construct the 18-foot wide concrete highway known as the Cronomer Valley-Plattekill highway, connecting the Newburgh North Plattekill road with the Plattekill road and completing an all-improved route between Newburgh and Kingston via New Paltz. This is the road that has been under consideration for a long time, and has been repeatedly placed on a back seat. The Ulster county sections of this route were constructed a number of years ago, but through some hocus pocus, Orange county did not procure the building of the missing link.

BLEASE MAKING STRONG BID FOR GOVERNORSHIP

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Columbia, S. C., Aug. 30.—Col. L. E. Blease, who kept South Carolina in the newspapers when he was governor of this state, is coming back. Incomplete returns early today from yesterday's state primary indicate that Blease will lead his chief opponent in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a small margin and that he stands an excellent chance of winning in the run-off primary that undoubtedly will be necessary.

GIN BECLOUDS MURDER PROBLEM

Prominent Rochester Man Pleads Loss of Memory After He and Tailor, Later Found Dead, Began on Two Quarts.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Although his hands and arms display evidence of a recent physical encounter, Owen D. DeWitt, 45, prominent real estate operator, steadfastly maintained this morning that he has no recollection of the fight which resulted in the death of J. Frank O'Connor, merchant tailor, in the latter's shop in the Sibley Building here Monday afternoon.

"I cannot remember," DeWitt repeated over and over again this morning when District Attorney William F. Love and Captain of Detectives William McDonald questioned him in an effort to disentangle some of the twisted skeins in this latest tragedy of the city's "high life."

DeWitt was equally reticent this morning when questioned about the two young women, Miss Angie Shields, 27, a stenographer, and a young and pretty nurse known as "Gussie," over the attentions of whom the two men are alleged to have quarreled. Both young women are said to have visited the tailor shop on the afternoon "Connor was killed. They will be subjected to further questioning today but it is not expected that the real motive for the fatal brawl will be ascertained until DeWitt shows an inclination to "open up" and tell what the trouble was all about. The police still adhere to the theory that jealousy over the attentions shown by the young woman to O'Connor was responsible for the murder.

DeWitt, arrested in Syracuse yesterday again and brought here at 9 o'clock last night by Detective Joseph P. Courneen, was driven from the New York Central Railroad station by his wife, who was formerly his mother-in-law. She drove the detective and DeWitt to central police headquarters in her sedan and was present when a charge of murder, first degree, was docketed against him.

DeWitt admitted going to O'Connor's shop Monday at noon. He said that while he was there a man brought in two quarts of gin. O'Connor and DeWitt drank it, according to the accused man's admission. DeWitt's memory suffered a relapse here. He could not remember any fight. After they had drained the two quarts of gin, he says, he remembers leaving the office and going to a "prohibition saloon" in Stillson street, just around the corner, and getting a few more drinks of gin. Then he remembered he had an appointment with a physician in Syracuse. His traveling bag was in O'Connor's office. He went back and got it, then "fell into a taxi" and was driven to the New York Central station where he boarded a train for Syracuse.

DeWitt asserted that he did not even see O'Connor lying on the floor when he re-entered the shop for his traveling bag. While admitting that "there may have been a row," he said he did not remember it and expressed the opinion that the tailor was killed by falling and striking his head on the floor or against the corner of a glass show case. DeWitt maintains he did not strike him with anything; as was at first suspected, judging from the fact that the dead man's skull, nose and arm were fractured.

"It's all a dream to me," DeWitt repeated over and over again today, following his arraignment in city court where he entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Mrs. Grace M. Beyer, of 70 Stillson street, is being held as a material witness by the police, who charge that it was she who sold gin to DeWitt after he staggered from the tailor's premises immediately following the killing.

No Cases in Police Court.

There were no arrests during the night, and no cases in police court today.

HERBERT FACTORY BUILDING IS SOLD

John Tancredi New Owner of Modern Plant on Thomas Street and Has Applications For Leases From Manufacturers.

John Tancredi of the Hotel Eichler on Railroad avenue, has purchased of the Herbert Mirror Works, Inc., through Alfred Herbert, president, the four story brick factory plant at 14 Thomas street. The deed of conveyance filed this morning gives the consideration $22,000. Included in the purchase is the boiler, elevator and electric engine for the elevator, and the heating and sprinkling systems. The plant is a modern one and advantageously situated for shipping, being only a short distance from the West Shore freight station. During the World War the building was used by the Herberts for the manufacturing of horse brushes and wooden corks or plugs used with hand grenades. After the war it was utilized for a while for the manufacturing of mirrors but this was not a success. For some time the plant has been practically idle. It is understood that Mr. Tancredi has a number of applications to lease the factory building from out of town manufacturers.

DECISION NEAR ON MORATORIUM

Allied Commission Meets to Consider Germany's Last Minute Proposals—Much Pessimism.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Aug. 30.—The Inter-Allied Reparations Commission's deliberations over Germany's request for an indemnity moratorium reached their final stage today. A decision is expected at once.

The commission met this morning to consider Germany's "last minute proposals" telegraphed from Berlin at midnight to Herr Schroeder, the German economic expert in Paris.

Before the meeting convened members of the Reparations Commission appeared to be deeply pessimistic over the possibility of reconciling the divergent views of the allied powers. The propositions of the various powers are as follows:

France—Willing to grant a short term moratorium on condition that Germany pledges the coal fields in the Ruhr Basin and her forests as security of payment.

England—Willing to grant Germany a long-term moratorium with a neutral third party in control of German finances to see that there is no extravagance and no attempt to evade payments.

Belgium—Willing to grant a moratorium for the balance of the present year on condition that Belgium's priority rights to indemnity in 1923 are fully secured.

Italy—Supporting the British viewpoint.

M. Duhois, of France, chairman of the Reparations Commission, is urging Belgium to support France and to work for a breaking of the present deadlock.

The French Press emphasizes Premier Poincare's readiness to take independent action against Germany if the commission fails to reach a decision. This action would take the form of military occupation of the Ruhr by French troops.

HOPE OF MINERS' RESCUE DWINDLES

Water and Dynamite Have Partly Checked Fire in Argonaut, but Gases Are Believed to Have Killed Imprisoned 45.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Jackson, Calif., Aug. 30.—The slight hope entertained yesterday for the rescue of the 15 entombed miners in the Argonaut mine is waning today following reports of additional explosions in the lower levels of the mineshaft.

A gang of 4 men brought the news of the latest explosions from their positions at the 2,700-foot level, where they remained for more than five hours dynamiting the walls of the shaft in the hope that in this way they could check the further progress of the blaze.

A check of the probable victims of the disaster, disclosed today that forty-five and not forty-eight are buried somewhere in the scores of passages below the burning timbers.

Although admittedly there is less than one chance in a million that the men will ever emerge alive, the attack on the 21 feet wall separating the Kennedy mine from the Argonaut, is being continued with new crews representing the latest miners in this section. The men are working in shifts of four hours—thirty in each crew. The enormity of their task can be appreciated by the fact that engineers agree the work they have undertaken ordinarily would require at least two weeks, maybe more, to complete.

The scene of their labors is at the 3,600-foot level of the Kennedy mine, 33 feet below the 4,200-foot level of the Argonaut mine.

Fire fighting efforts have been progressing and today there is a noticeable diminution in the force of the blaze, resultant from the dynamiting of portions of the shaft and of the playing of huge, 5,000 gallon skipfuls of water on the fire.

Miners are being sent down the shaft in crews of five, each crew carrying canaries to aid them in detecting the presence of gas. The little songsters have been secured from homes of miners throughout the district.

The dynamiting crew freely expressed the opinion that there was less than no hope for the imprisoned men because of their belief that the deadly fumes of the released gases have penetrated to the lower reaches of the mine.

If alive, the men now have been sixty hours without food or water with nearly all possible sources of fresh air supply exhausted.

The wives and relatives of the men are gradually beginning to lose the blind hope they at first entertained. The crowd of anxious watchers around the mouth of the mine has decreased in size. It is generally believed by the miners that it probably will require several weeks to reach the men.

ENFORCE LAWS HARDING'S POLICY

With Congress Loath to Grant Seizure Authority, Belief is Expressed That Government Will Let Roads and Unions Fight It Out Unless Situation Becomes Intolerable.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 30.—Legislation to strengthen the powers of the federal government to prevent profiteering and fuel famine, more rigorous prosecution of those who conspire to interfere with interstate commerce and allow the railroads and the unions to fight it out if it takes all winter—this appeared today to be the administration's program in dealing with the critical industrial situation, emerging from the series of almost continuous conferences between President Harding and his advisers.

Unless there is an immediate change for the worse—such as the extension of the shopmen's strike to other classes of railroad labor—this program will be followed through, it was apparent today and the amount of legislation will be left to the determination of congress.

It was considered doubtful today whether congress will authorize President Harding to "seize" both railroads and coal mines—legislation which he believes he should be armed with in view of the uncertainty over how long congress will stay in session.

Opposition to anything approaching government operation of railroads or seizure of mines, is strong in both house and senate among members of the president's own party—even though the White House has definitely announced that such a step would be taken in case of a grim crisis which offered no other way out.

Looming darkly in the background of all government plans today was the unanswered question of an extension of the shopmen's strike to include other classes of railway labor.

Opinions privately voiced in labor quarters were that the maintenance of way men would soon cast their lot with the striking shopmen, following the turnover given their pleas for a "basic wage" by the Railway Labor Board at Chicago. The maintenance of way men were "on the fence" as regards joining the shopmen at the outset of the strike and the fear was held in official quarters that the rebuff at the hands of the board might result in their active and open alignment with the shopmen.

The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission indicating that the eight weeks' strike has resulted in virtually 50 percent of the locomotives of the country being in need of repairs of greater or lesser magnitude, emphasized the seriousness of the situation today.

It is now a race, government officials said, between the railroad systems of the country to keep up their current repairs to a point where continuity of service is assured. Whether the railroads can win such a race is problematical, according to private views of government officials, and one that will be determined in the next four weeks.

The commission's report that there have been violations of the federal boiler inspection laws by some railroads, was in the hands of the department of justice today. Attorney General Daugherty declined to comment on it, or to say whether prosecutions of the offending roads might be expected to follow.

HERRIN VICTIM TELLS GRAND JURY

Timekeeper, Shot and Beaten on March of Death, One of Witnesses Who Are Secretly Brought Under Guard and Then Hurried Away.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Marion, Ill., Aug. 30.—Those who looked on—and some who went through the bloody tragedy of the Herrin massacre in which three union coal miners and nineteen employees of the Southern Illinois Coal Company were killed last June, told their story to the grand jury here today.

These actual eye witnesses were brought into the inquiry one by one and then hurried away. For the most part their identity was kept secret. All were closely guarded, although the crowds around the court house have dwindled now to a mere handful of "sitters" who decorate the lawn outside the entrance to the building.

One of the most important witnesses to testify thus far was Allen P. Findlay, timekeeper at the strip near where the wholesale killings took place.

Findlay was one of those captured after the all-night fight. He was placed in the procession of death that trailed for three miles along the road that leads to the strip mine.

When the terror-stricken victim was made targets at the hands of men with rifles in the mob, Findlay fell with a bullet in the back. He was picked up and buried into a barbed wire fence beside the road by members of the marching mob. Finally an incriminated rioter took a passing shot at him as he lay beside the fence, the bullet shattering his foot.

Findlay, however, never moved, and by feigning death, was left among the bodies which marked the procession down the road.

The witness took two hours to tell his story and he was closely questioned by the jurors.

The police sergeant, it is said, accompanied the beer runners. Chief of Police Fitzmorris has ordered a rigid investigation of the charge that the police sergeants were "hand in hand" with the beer runners.

WOMAN'S SMILE BLINK'S WATERLOO

Man With Marvel Curve of Century Loves First Game Through Wiles of Captain Twin Gormley—"Some Smiles Make Me Happy, and Others Make Me Sad" Sings Biren Mournfully.

"My jingoes, but that is what I call a pippin," murmured Blink Biven, the man with the marvel curve of the century, as he paused to throw a second glance after a strange young lassie walking down the village street.

Like all guest men Blink had a fatal weakness. In his case it was the fond belief that he was a lady killer and that all women "felt for him." The smiles they cast in his direction helped increase that belief, although it may have been due to his appearance for truth compels the statement that Blink would never win a beauty contest.

At this unfortunate moment Captain Twin Gormley of the Busters, who were slated to play the Gallipers in the Mountain League that afternoon, happened to overhear Blink's remark and note the cause of it. "Ha, ha!" laughed Twin to himself and ducked out of sight before he was spotted by Blink.

The first performance of Blink in the box against the Busters when he defeated three single-handed with the famous curve back ball still rankled in Blink's breast, and he realized that there would be another record breaking attendance at the game that afternoon as it had been announced that Blink was going to repeat.

Since the first game Captain Gormley had been racking his brains for a solution of the puzzling delivery of Blink's, but so far he had not been successful. After the morning encounter of Blink and the strange beauty Captain Gormley retired to his room in the hotel and ordered a pitcher of ice water and a supply of tobacco and a new corn cob pipe, and at noon he emerged from his room wearing the first smile he had worn since the historic game in which Blink made his bow to the Mountain League fans.

What made Captain Gormley smile? That is a question that can be answered only by the events of the afternoon when Blink was slated to stage his one man ball stunt. It may be said, however, that Gormley was well acquainted with the strange lassie who had blown into town and was spending her vacation at a nearby summer resort, for he had met her while on a trip to Coney Island.

It seems strange, however, that when the game was called that afternoon the little lassie should be occupying the choice seat in the grandstand just where she could be easily seen by Blink Biven, but the mystery is easily solved when it is known that Captain Gormley had sent her the ticket with his compliments. She had accepted the ticket after hearing Captain Gormley's explanation.

Blink's reputation rested not alone upon his ability to throw the only curve back ball in the history of baseball, but also upon the fact that he concentrated all his time upon the game, and in doing so had not met it and knocked out the only hit and home run of the game which ended in favor of the Busters; the score being 1 to 0.

The other Gallipers, however, who were draped on the playing bench, and whose services were not needed when Blink did his trick in the box were aware of the smiles and nudged one another asking "Who is the little peach?"

Blink at the opening of the ninth frame overheard the remarks from the players' bench and glanced toward the grandstand and as he did so a ravishing smile fluttered his way causing his heart to miss a beat and his face to flush redly beneath the tan.

As the beauty again smiled at him he so far forgot himself that he did not put the usual twist on the ball and as a result it sailed over the plate—that is it would have sailed over if Captain Gormley had not met it and knocked out the only hit and home run of the game which ended in favor of the Busters; the score being 1 to 0.

What matters it that Blink quickly regained control of himself and struck out the remaining two Busters. The game was lost with the aid of a woman's smile.

ROTARY'S TOURISTS BACK WITH TALES

Oldest Prison Guard in State Also Tells of Prison Reforms and Invites Local Men to Sing Sing.

Without any set program, the Rotary luncheon today was an extremely lively one, much of the time being given to members who had recently returned from vacation trips and who were called on to give an account of their doings. Dr. C. D. Carter spoke of the glory and beauty of Hensouville and Windham and James Byrne described the Scotch influence in Montreal. Mr. Byrne presented ceremoniously to the president of the club a most carefully selected gavel which he had purchased in Montreal. There were also brief addresses by William Dugan, Joseph M. Herbert and others.

Alfred Conyer, a guest of one of the members, made a most interesting and welcome address which was highly appreciated. Mr. Conyer has been a guard in Sing Sing prison for 14 years and is the oldest prison guard in the state. He described the improvements in prison management that have come under his observation, which have bettered the temper of the prisoners and given them opportunity for improvement. After painting prison life in glowing words, Mr. Conyer invited all Rotarians to drop in at any time and promised to use his influence to see that they were given light and airy quarters and safeguarded from all harm during their sojourn.

DICKENS REVIVAL AT ROXMOR INN

Postmaster DeWitt Presents Scenes From Author's Works—Other Features of Waning Season at Woodland Valley's Unique Resort.

A very distinguished, intellectual and interested audience greeted Postmaster William C. DeWitt of Kingston at Roxmor Inn on Friday evening. Manager Edward B. Miller, who had invited Mr. DeWitt to give a talk on Dickens before his guests, presided, and in a fitting manner introduced the speaker. Mr. Miller felt that interest in the works of Charles Dickens should be revived as in the days when readings and plays from Dickens were the rule rather than the exception.

Mr. DeWitt gave his audience a brief account of the life and achievements of the great author, and then depicted "Great Expectations" in twelve scenes. The rapidity with which these thrilling and emotional chapters were presented in the words and style of the author spoke well for Mr. DeWitt's familiarity with his subject. The speaker did not read the lines but repeated the scenes extempore holding the attention of the audience perfectly.

Those present were guests of Roxmor Inn and members and friends of the Roxmor Colony, among whom were noted Prof. John Hasbrouck and family, Paterson, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ward, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Adams and family, Montclair, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Weed, New Haven, Conn.; Dr. Gertrude G. Mack, New York; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Eberhard, Philadelphia; Mrs. F. C. Sutor, Basking Ridge, N. J.; Miss E. Frost, Brooklyn; Dean Ella McCaleb, Vassar College; Mrs. W. L. Sweet, Jr., Staten Island; Mrs. R. W. Boyd, New York; Mrs. Horace Stont, Brooklyn; Mrs. Thomas E. Jevous, Miss Jevous, F. T. R. Jevous, Huntington, L. I.; Ludwig Baker, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Prior, Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Groome, Newport, Del.; Mrs. H. Finnegan, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Dalley, C. E. Chambers, Riverdale, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson, Arlington, N. J.; Mrs. A. M. Chase, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Dr. George H. Mayer, Mauch Chunk, Pa.; Dr. C. J. Kistler, Lehighton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Walton, New York; Mrs. Phillip Helzell, Cynwyd, Pa.; and Richard Thierington and family, New York.

The "Revival" takes its place among a series of varied entertainments very successfully carried out at intervals during this season at Roxmor Inn. Coming events are a program of music and impersonation by the Misses Reid and Charles Lineback, followed by the usual Saturday night dancing. Afternoon tea at the Neighborhood House, card party at the Inn Thursday and as the closing event a grand beef-steak dinner in the stone room on September 2nd.

Camp Wake Robin without intending to figure among the public attractions of Roxmor, offered to guests and visitors a most unique form of entertainment by its weekly council, Wake Robin is a tribe of the Woodcraft League of America. The council ring located in the deep woods, is approached by a curious, winding path. There is the great fire—lighted by rubbing sticks—the totem poles, the big chief, the Sagamores in the blankets and other things of mystery. There are initiations, coups and ceremonies, then songs, stories, pantomime and combats.

On Sunday afternoon the camp gathers at the neighborhood house; a short union religious service is usually followed by something interesting and instructive. Last Sunday there were "Reminiscences of John Burroughs" by Dean McCaleb. Though the camp closed on the 26th, the Sunday meetings will continue. On September 2nd Commissioner Sutor of the Interstate Park will speak on the subject of the work in which he is deeply interested and about which he is most enthusiastic.

JIGGS DOES HIS STUFF SATURDAY

The latest stage version, based on the famous comic of George M. Cohan, "Bringing Up Father," at the Opera House Saturday matinee and night is entitled, "Father On His Vacation." Jiggs Mahoney, the beloved Celtic, who as a husband and dad has made such a sorry failure, hits upon a new idea to get away from the turmoil of his baneful existence. He seeks refuge from the nagging and hen-pecking of Maggie, his wife, who although good at heart, believes in the policy of domination with the result that Jiggs is never given a moment's respite. But "Father" manages to get even, and just how he accomplishes this seemingly impossible feat forms the foundation of one of the merriest, wittiest, snappiest and laugh-provoking contributions of the year. Special music, exclusive scenic investiture, beauty, screams, no-nonsense, surprise and innovations, are promised and those sponsoring this unique production as theatregoers are aware generally keep their compact.

In Kingston when a girl leaves her father's home, she becomes free to rule her own destiny; but in the land of mosques and minarets when a girl escapes from her harem walls she is hunted like a wild beast until she is found—unless some western gentleman intervenes, and in this story one does. Thursday Richard Barthelmess in "The Seventh Day" a fishing skipper who meets a society Lorelei. Hope Hampton in "Stardust" is programmed at the Auditorium tonight. Fannie Hurst wrote the story. George Walsh in "With Stanley in Africa" also featured. Thursday Charles Hutchinson in "Go Get 'Em Hutch." At the Opera House Thursday and Friday the super-film classic "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is featured. Adapted from Harriet Beecher Stowe's great American story.

Dressing a political boss for a theatrical party where he flashes his grandness from a prominent box, aroused considerable discussion among the all-star cast in the presentation of "The Star Rover" a Metro release of the famous Jack London story which will be shown at the Orpheum Theater today. That political bosses in real life are entirely unlike the burlesque of the stage, was the contention of most of the cast. Each cited a well known local politician to prove their theory that the politician today has as little distinguishing blatant peculiarities as the average citizen. There will be the usual vaudeville acts, with an entire change of program tomorrow.

ASSEMBLYMAN HIT BY HAINES FALLS MAN'S CAR

Woman, Struck at Same Time, Is Dead.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Aug. 30.—Assemblyman Benjamin Antin of the Bronx narrowly escaped death about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning when he was struck by an automobile at State and Pearl streets. He is in the Homeopathic Hospital with his spine badly injured. A young woman, as yet unidentified, who was struck by the same automobile, died in the hospital at noon. Mr. Antin left the Ten Eyck Hotel to cross the street to a restaurant. He told an employee of the hotel that he wanted to get a sandwich and a cup of coffee. As he stepped off the curb the automobile, driven by John J. Renner of Haines Falls, came down State street hill. Renner jammed on his brakes when he saw Antin and the young woman. The latter was crossing State street from the opposite direction, and was not with Antin. Renner was unable to stop his car and he struck both Antin and the woman. They were taken to the hospital in Renner's car.

Renner is held pending investigation. He is said to have told the police that he was driving less than twelve miles an hour, and that he did not see Mr. Antin or the young woman at the crossing. Mr. Antin came here Monday to attend the special session of the legislature.

WOMEN TO DECIDE FATE OF CLINE

His Counsel Thinks Buller's Course Will Show That Bergin Was Killed While Struggling For Pistol.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 30.—The fate of George A. Cline, who is in jail at Hackensack, N. J., charged with the murder of John Bergin, an actor, because of Bergin's attentions to Mrs. Cline, will rest largely in the hands of women, according to all indications today. Mrs. Cline, the wife, says she will stick to her husband to the bitter end. Mrs. May Bergin, widow of the dead actor, has offered to testify for Cline. Miss Alice Thornton, 19 year old movie actress, however, may prove the star witness for it was her revelations to Cline that led to the tragedy. In addition, there is a disposition on the part of counsel for the defense to get as many women on the jury as possible.

Prosecuting Attorney A. C. Hart of Bergen county, New Jersey, will set up the contention that the shooting in the Cline-home at Edgewater on Friday night, was premeditated and done in cold blood. While Miss Thornton's story indicated that the shooting may have been planned as early as July, the real secret of how the slaying occurred is held in the bullet-scarred door of the Cline home. Cline's attorney hopes to show by the bullet's course that the shooting was done in self-defense.

A fit of jealousy, I guess, caused me to tell Mr. Cline, said Miss Thornton, to whom Bergin has been paying marked attention prior to his death. She continued: One evening early in July, Charley Souillon, Mrs. Cline's brother, who lived with the Clines, asked me to go to a dance. We went to a place in Palisades avenue—Mr. and Mrs. Cline, Charley and myself. While Mr. Cline and I were dancing, he asked me how Jack and I were getting on.

"I told Mr. Cline that I did not care much for Jack any more. He immediately began to stammer. He told me how much he thought of Jack, what he had done for him and what he would do for him in the future. Well, that made me angry." Miss Thornton said that she then told Cline: "You may think he is a fine, honorable fellow, but he is not. I saw him kissing your wife." Then I told him of an incident I had witnessed in his own home a month before. He took it very calmly—so calmly that I wondered whether he believed I was looking back now, it seems that Mr. Cline must have begun his investigation right away. Counsel for Cline believes that the bullet's course will show that the two men were either crashed in a fighting position or were actually struggling when the shot was fired. Cline contends that the two men were in struggle for possession of the revolver when the shot was fired which snuffed out Bergin's life.

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS SELF IN GIRL'S PRESENCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Olean, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Disappointed because Miss Elsie Reynolds of this city refused to marry him, George Flynn, 35 years old, of Galeton, Pa., killed himself with a 38 calibre revolver while they were riding in his automobile in the West Diver road, south of this city late yesterday afternoon.

You will marry me or you will regret it as long as you live, was the declaration of the man, bringing his car to a stop opposite the Mount View Cemetery. When Miss Reynolds refused to change her mind, Flynn dived under the seat and obtained a gun. She was frightened at the sight of the weapon. The man's strength was too great and he brought the muzzle against his forehead and fired and fell over dead. After an engagement of years, they set their wedding day one year ago, but a Presbyterian minister refused to marry them because the man had been divorced, said Miss Reynolds. She refused to marry elsewhere and they broke the engagement. He coming to Olean yesterday and persuading her to ride with him.

He brought up the subject of marriage and said he had obtained a license, but she informed him that she had changed her mind.

ULTRA-MODERNISM AT 1922 MAVERICK FESTIVAL

The annual Maverick Festival, which is to take place at Woodstock, Thursday, promises to be the most spectacular and fantastic yet achieved by the colony of artists there. The out-door theatre is to be the scene of a pageant which will represent the progression of man from the dim past to a fabulous and grotesque future. The keynote of the settings is to be ultra-modernism: Robert W. Chanler, George Bellows, Andrew Dasburg, Ben Ami and Madame Maeterlinck (Georgette Le Blanc) are among those who will participate.

Irish Women Rebels Active

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, Aug. 30.—The military activity of women rebels is steadily increasing. Much sniping by women and a number of ambush attacks carried out by women were reported today to the Free State war ministry. Another rumor was current here today that Eamon de Valera was trying to make his way into Dundalk. According to this report de Valera may contemplate flight from the country by way of the port of Dundalk.

Suggests Farmers Cut Wood

In order that there may be an assurance of fuel for farm houses during the winter, it is being urged by those who have given study to the whole fuel question that farmers provide a supply of wood not only sufficient for their heating uses but for sale to others who may need it in case the threatened shortage of coal becomes a reality.

FUEL BILL SIGNED, SESSION ADJOURNS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Governor Miller signed late Tuesday afternoon the Fuel Administration Bill which had been passed by the legislature in extraordinary session earlier in the day without a dissenting vote in either house.

After approving this measure, which vests in the Fuel Administrator dictatorial powers, to meet the emergency which has arisen out of the existing shortage in domestic fuel due to the strike in the anthracite fields, the extra session adjourned sine die. Through the governor's signature the bill has become Chapter 675 of the laws of 1932. It goes into effect immediately.

CITY OFFICIALS BEAT ROADMAKERS

Kid Taylor Yields Enough Hiss in First Three Innings to Make Rest Easy for Williams, Who Opposed Him—Martin Seeks More Victims.

The Kingston Officials demonstrated to the full satisfaction of all persons present at the Kingston Fair Grounds Tuesday night that they can play baseball as well as politics. In a game with the Highway Men they emerged victors by a score of 5 to 1.

However, no one need gain the impression that this was due to poor playing on the part of the losers, as they very likely will not, when they learn that Alderman Dick Williams was on the mound for the Officials. Any player who sees Dick's speed ball before it gets into the pitcher's glove can rate himself as a very good baseball player. And Dick sure did have his speedy delivery working to perfection. The next question which it would be natural for anybody to ask is who had the courage to back up this speed king behind the bat. Well, it was no other than Judge Harry Schrick himself, who not only had the courage but also the ability.

Kid Taylor, the youngster who has been making a name for himself playing with the Cocksack team, was on the mound for the Highway Men. The Kid was unable to get his knockout ball working in the first part of the game and as a result the Officials found him for some good solid blows which brought in five runs in the first three innings. After the third inning, however, he settled down and kept his opponents from securing any more runs. However, as it developed later, the 5-0 runs were plenty.

The Judge not only caught but he also made a name for himself in so far as hitting was concerned, slugging out a brace of doubles. Rice, Keuhn and Williams also did some creditable work along this line.

The proceeds of the game were donated to the tuberculosis camp. Over one thousand tickets were sold. Encouraged by the showing of his team, Manager Martin is endeavoring to secure some games with the Poughkeepsie and Newburgh officials.

SETTING AN EXAMPLE FOR OUR NEIGHBORS

Newburgh Paper Says We Are "Going Them One Better."

Kingston is to go Newburgh's "made and sold" exhibition on wheels "one better" with an industrial exposition in tents on the Fair Grounds in October. It has been interested in the matter by Samuel Wilson, former secretary of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, who conducted such an exhibition in Rome, where despite bad weather 13,000 persons were in attendance. The Kingston exposition is to be held to raise funds for an industrial survey by Mr. Wilson, presumably similar to that made for Newburgh by a committee of the local chamber within the past year. Large tents are to be erected and exhibitors will pay for rental of space and persons attending the exhibition will pay admission, and $8,000 gross receipts are figured on—enough to pay all expenses of the affair and the survey.

The idea seems a good one, but whether it works out successfully depends on manufacturers and merchants. If they enter into the exposition with enthusiasm, the venture doubtless will prove "good business" all round. Bringing the matter home, how many Newburghers are aware of the kind, diversity and number of articles manufactured in Newburgh? How will they become informed unless there is some effort by manufacturers to bring their products directly before the local public? Newburgh is a heavy consuming market and needless to say if it were better informed on home-manufactured goods it could contribute materially to the welfare of its own manufacturing plants.—Newburgh News.

THE ENVELOPE'S NEWS

"I have some news for you," said the envelope to the stamp.

"One Was So Dull."

"Good," said the stamp. "I am always eager for news. I suppose it is a family quality. We're always been known to be travelers and adventurers, and we like to hear what is going on in the world about us."

"Well, stamp," said the envelope, "I would have told you before, but we had so much excitement in the mail bag with those cranky post cards trying to make us read them all the time that it was difficult for me to say anything to you."

"Ah, yes," said the stamp; "how those post cards did behave. One was so dull and kept insisting that we should listen to it as it told us that a person named Molly wrote to a person named Maggie, and said:

"Dear Maggie: I'm too busy to write a letter. I am working very hard. I would write you now only I must go out. E. is well and so am I. I hope you are too. Have you darned the stockings yet? Aff, Molly."

"The 'Aff' meant affectionately, the post card told us. It also added that people almost always wrote 'Aff' instead of 'Affectionately' on post cards, because they always cut everything short on post cards, their affection, too!

"And then, of course, another reason was that people didn't want to say anything they knew or thought on a post card, which could be read by any one."

"Well, post cards are pretty dull. Especially those kinds that have no pictures and are full of things such as we heard."

"If they only wrote something exciting or interesting I would not mind. But they seldom do."

"I know of one that did. I heard of this one through a stamp friend."

"The person wrote on a post card: 'I am in Florida and it is December, and yet there are roses and violets and jonquills in the garden. There are, big spiders, and little red ants, too!'

"Now that was an interesting post card. So many people who write post cards from beautiful places will simply write:

"Here is where we are. Wish you could be with us."

"Now the person to whom they are writing cannot be with them and it would be far better if they gave just a little nice description of the place."

"There seems to be something dull about the family of postcards."

"But here I am talking about these old postcards and I'm just as dull and yet I have been taking up all the time in talking just as they did."

"Do tell me your piece of news, envelope."

Now the stamp was on the envelope and the envelope was lying on a table in a little apartment in a city home. The envelope had been opened.

"Well," the envelope began, "I will tell you at once. A lady from the country sent a little pressed hepatica and a pink trailing arbutus in me. And I carried these two little flowers in a letter and you did the rest of the work, stamp!"

"But when the flowers were taken out do you know that they had not lost one bit of their fragrance? They were just as sweet as sweet could be. The hepatica simply had a little woodland smell but the trailing arbutus was just so sweet."

"And oh, it made the people all so happy. It was like a lovely spring whiff of the woods."

"And I was so glad that I had been able to protect the flowers on their journey."

"Well," said the stamp, "and to think that all the time the old postcards were talking I was carrying the freshness and loveliness of the woods."

"We do have adventurous, interesting lives, we stamps. And you, envelopes, and your family are our faithful, dear friends. We would never have half the adventures and half the excitement if it weren't for you."

"Your news is fine springtime news too!"

Immaterial.

The office stenographer was mentally upset over her inability to spell "graphic." "How do you spell graphic, with one 'f' or two?" she asked. "If you are going to use any," the genial boss replied, "you might as well use two."

LIKE "MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

In every family there are certain formulas for foods which are cherished and handed down from mother to daughter. We outgrow some food combinations but there are others which grow old and are each year "put up" for the winter. Here are a few worth noting:

Sliced Green Tomato Pickles.—Slice a peck of well developed green tomatoes, also slice one-half dozen good-sized onions. Put a layer of the sliced tomatoes in a large kettle or jar, sprinkle with salt and add a layer of onions, repeat until all are used; a cupful of salt will be sufficient for this amount. Let them stand over night. In the morning drain, add one quart of vinegar, one cupful of brown sugar, two sticks of cinnamon and a tablespoonful of cloves tied in a bag and cooked with the vegetables; when tender but not mushy, put into a small stone jar, pour over the vinegar and when the pickles are cold add one-half cupful of grated horseradish and a tablespoonful of mustard seed. If the roots are too small to grate put them in whole. Cover with a weight and keep the jar well covered. These pickles are best for serving with meats if not too sweet.

Tomato Catsup.—Take three dozen ripe tomatoes, three red peppers (hot ones), six onions, all chopped fine. Add two teaspoonfuls each of cinnamon, mustard, and one of cloves, all ground. To three cupfuls of vinegar add one cupful of brown sugar and three tablespoonfuls of salt. Cook all together for two hours, very slowly, then put through a sieve, reheat, bottle and seal.

Spiced Peaches.—Take three pounds of sugar, three cupfuls of good vinegar, one ounce of cloves, two sticks of cinnamon, holl all together, then add seven pounds of ripe firm peaches. Let them heat through slowly, then when tender remove to the jar and boil the sirup until quite thick. Pour boiling hot over the fruit. Cover tightly and tie a cloth over the jar. It is not necessary to seal them.

Increased Demand for Mica.
Mica, the transparent, heat-resisting mineral, familiar to many through its use for windows in heating stoves, has now become so essential in electrical industry that the larger electrical supply manufacturing companies own and operate their own mines.

NORTHWEST STATES PLEAD FOR COAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 30.—A winter of suffering that in prospect, can be compared only with the experiences of soviet Russia, stares in the faces of 9,000,000 people in six northwestern states as cold weather approaches. Coal bins are empty in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Montana and supplies so far shipped are pitifully inadequate.

The was the declaration today of Donald D. Conn, chairman of the committee representing the governors of three states who are in Washington working to get fuel started for ports on the Great Lakes in time to be transported by water to the great docks at the head of Lake Superior, for distribution.

"I cannot put it too strongly," said Conn today, "people in the northwest will be going to death this winter if coal is not moved there in large quantities. If disaster is to be avoided," he added, "a million tons of coal must be dumped each week at lake ports before the close of lake navigation about December 1. The only hope for the northwest is for the Interstate Commerce Commission to force coal into lake ports regardless of everything but railroads and public utilities."

According to Conn, 11,912 tons of bituminous coal and 1,947 tons of anthracite were shipped to Lake Superior ports for distribution to the northwest States. Up to August 21 of this year, 1,913,954 tons of bituminous and about 10,000 tons of anthracite had been shipped. And much of this coal, Conn declared, has been diverted to uses that if not for the rail strike, would have been met by all-rail coal from Illinois.

"The situation is desperate," said Conn. "There is no reserve whatever. On August 29, 1921, there were 5,400,000 tons of coal in the docks at Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis. Day before yesterday, there were just 177,000 tons. And remember that winter comes early in that country. We have killing frosts September 15. When I was in Duluth two weeks ago, it was so chilly that steam heat was on in the hotel and railroad station."

BEAUTY'S PRIZE MONEY BAILS HER SWEETHEART

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Hingham, Mass., Aug. 30.—How many young men can boast that the beauty of their sweethearts is sufficient to bail them out when they get in a "jam" with the police? John P. Sullivan, of Somerville, can. When he was held here in $100 bail for disturbing the peace, Sullivan tendered five $20 gold pieces which he admitted his fiancée, Miss Grace Gifford, won as the prettiest dancer at Nantasket, together with the title "Miss Nantasket."

DISCREET HIP FLASK TOTERS SAFE IN NEW YORK.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 30.—If you don't want your flask of hooch like it was a tumbler's red flag, you stand a good chance of enjoying a comparatively lively evening along the white lights.

This was the intimation today of John S. Parsons, state chief prohibition enforcement officer.

"The drastic order against pocket bottles was issued because toters of private stock were guilty of unbecoming conduct in restaurants, taverns and other public places," Parsons said.

He added, however, that the department would not attempt to search every wayfarer on the great American desert to see what he has on his hip. But public exhibitions of the pocket supply will result in arrest.

If you want to drink hooch in public, keep the bottles under your coat and use a straw.

She is survived by five sons, Charles W., Robert F., Edward J., John and William and four daughters, Mrs. William Cooper, Mary, Angela and Mrs. Peter Graham of Long Island. Also two brothers, Henry and Robert Parsons. The funeral will be held from the Church of the Holy Cross, Pine Grove avenue, Saturday, September 2, at 9:30 a. m. Interment in the Wiltwyck Cemetery.

The Rev. Denis Wortman, D. D., formerly pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church at Saugerties, who died Monday at his home, No. 49 Watson avenue, East Orange, N. J., was a noted clergyman of the denomination to which he belonged and for many years enjoyed a wide reputation as a preacher, prose writer and poet. He was eighty seven years old and death was due to the infirmities of old age.

At the age of thirty-three years, Dr. Wortman received the degree of doctor of divinity from the Union Theological Seminary, and at that time was the youngest man ever thus honored by that institution. He served for many years as pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church at Saugerties and enjoyed a large acquaintance throughout Ulster county. After his retirement from active ministry, he devoted most of his time to literary work, in which he excelled. His most famous poems are "Reliques of the Christ" and "The Divine Processional." He wrote innumerable short poems, many of which have been adopted by the Reformed and other religious denominations for church hymns. He possessed a pleasing, facile style and was a master of expression. For some years he was pastor of the Bushwick Avenue Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn.

In 1901 he was president of the general synod of the Reformed Church and was twice vice president. For nineteen years, until two years ago, he was secretary of the Reformed Church board of ministerial relief. Dr. Wortman's ancestors were among the first settlers of Brooklyn Heights. He is survived by his wife and two sons. One of the sons, Denis Wortman, is an artist and formerly was connected with the New York Tribune. His funeral will take place this evening from his late residence and will be conducted by the Rev. Edward H. Bishop, pastor of the Hyde Park Reformed Church of East Orange. Interment will take place at Hopewell, N. Y., on Thursday, and special services will be held there.

FLAPPER THROUGH.

So Orders Poiret—New After Long Dresses Are Sold.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 30.—The flapper is distinctly out of luck.

This species—scientifically flapperique hobbetitis, is officially extinct, according to the edict of Paul Poiret, dean of French fashion connoisseurs.

But she's coming back. A new variety of flapper is due about 1927, interviewers of M. Poiret were led to believe. In other words just about the time the flapper's hair is grown to a respectable length, off it must come again.

M. Poiret had more to say on short and long skirts. The other day he decreed the end of the knee length skirt reign.

"Longer will become longer and longer until they hit the ground," the Frenchman said. "There will be few years of the long skirt, perhaps three, who knows?"

Then up they go again. Women will tire of being hobbled like a pacing horse. They will remember that shapely limbs are not to be hidden in folds of cloth.

Judging from the extreme skirts of today, as compared to the short dresses of the last period of that style, the short skirts of three or four years hence will really be short.

Poiret said that when fashion overtakes its purpose, it should be relegated to the scrap heap and something new tried.

American women are expected to be a bit tardy in accepting the long skirt.

"This may be due," Poiret said, "to the fact the American feminine figure is better developed and more finely poised than the French. Complexions are better—clothes seem possessed of more snap."

"The American has all of the charm of the French and the aristocracy of the English."

Hughes' Steamer Not Heard From.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 30.—The navy department was making every effort to get in communication with the Shipping Board steamer Pan American, enroute to Rio de Janeiro with Secretary of State Hughes and other members of the American diplomatic mission to the Brazilian exposition.

COLONIALS WILL BE KEPT BUSY

For the remainder of the week and Labor Day—Asters of Rhinebeck will oppose the local club three times during next six games. Captain Harry Schrick and Manager Brown of the Kingston Colonials recently signed up a few new players to the local lineup for the remainder of the season. Local fandom could not see the big idea in having so large a roll call, but the foresight on the part of the management of the home team is proven when you take a glance at their next five days' work.

This afternoon the Peekskill A. C. of Yonkers are again at the Kingston Fair Grounds battling for the deciding game of a series of three. The game will be called at 5:30 o'clock.

Thursday the Schrickmen travel to the Dutchess County Fair, where they will oppose the Asters of Rhinebeck. The outcome of this contest is looked forward to with much interest as the Rhinebeck team have given the Colonials stiff opposition at the Kingston Fair Grounds and they have been preparing for this coming struggle for some time.

On Friday the local players will take a rest. Saturday the Madison Colored Giants, a strong aggregation who have been traveling the past season through the upper part of the state, will be the attraction at the Fair Grounds.

Sunday the Kennedy All Stars of Yonkers, one of the fastest semi-pro clubs in the state, will do battle with the local team on the home field.

Monday, the Astor Club of Rhinebeck will again come to this city with their many rooters to oppose the Colonials. The local team will be seen in action both in the morning and the afternoon struggling with the Rhinebeck squad.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES.
B. Ruth Gets His Twenty-seventh Home Run.

Home runs by Pipp and the Big Bertha, otherwise B. Ruth, knocked Walter Johnson and the Senators for a 3 to 1 loop. Ruth's was his twenty-seventh of the season.

It has come down to a point where half pint portions of humanity are seeking them elsewhere. Little Bernie Neis smacked a homer off Hamilton in the first inning and won the opening game for the Dodgers over the Pirates 3 to 2. In the second game, Babe Adams, the patriarch, shut out the Dodgers 6 to 0.

For seven innings, Uble looked a cool million against the Browns, letting them down with one lonely hit. Then—blat! In the eighth, he walked two, hit another and was found for 4 hits, the Indians losing 6 to 3.

The Cardinals continued their mad, dizzy dash toward the rear by dropping a 15 to 11 decision to the Cubs. The victory gave the Cubs a firmer clutch on second place.

In one of those home run or no count things, the Athletics pulled out of a 6 to 5 victory over the Red Sox when Galloway hit for the circuit in the tenth inning. Tilly Walker obliged with his thirty-second of the season, tying Williams and Hornsby for the major league leadership.

With Johnson languishing on the base paths in the tenth, our hero, Earl Sheely, smacked one of Olson's offerings over the scoreboard in left and beat the Tigers, 5 to 3.

Peddler's Wagon Robbed.
Mr. Pulinski of 389 First avenue reported to the police Tuesday that his peddling wagon had been robbed of cigarettes, handkerchiefs and other articles.

JACKSON KNOCKED OUT BY WILLS IN THIRD ROUND

Harry Wills, the Brown Panther of New Orleans, made short work of the highly advertised Tuf Jackson, negro heavyweight of Washington Court House, Ohio in their scheduled fifteen round bout Tuesday night before a crowd of about 20,000 fans at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. With a destructive body assault which he started when the opening gong sent the men on their journey, Wills battered Jackson into submission in the third round.

A powerful left hook to the stomach, delivered as Jackson tore in at Wills, was the blow which ended whatever ambitions Jackson entertained of displacing his rival. The punch doubled Jackson up on the floor of the ring. While struggling to arise he was counted out, the time of the round being exactly two minutes and five seconds.

When he had completed the count the referee, Claude Tibbetts, who had come from Albany especially for this bout, stooped, and, with the aid of Wills, assisted Jackson to the latter's corner. It was several minutes before he was able to leave his corner.

ULEN TEAM EASILY DEFEATS OLIVE BRIDGE

Continuing to demonstrate that they are the class of local teams the Ulen baseball club administered a crushing defeat to the Olive Bridge team last Sunday at Ulen Field, score 20 to 1. Dan Ennis, the Ulen pitcher, allowed but five scattered hits, four of which were secured by catcher J. Davis. The Ulen boys bombarded the visiting pitchers for nineteen hits totalling thirty bases, and would have scored a shut-out but for an error in the ninth inning. Next Sunday the opening game of the series between the Ulen and Fleischmanns teams will be played at Fleischmanns.

FACTORY WORKERS' EARNED $24.77 WEEKLY IN JULY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Aug. 30—Factory workers' earnings in this state averaged $24.77 weekly in July, State Industrial Commissioner Henry D. Sayer, announced today. He said the increase over June reported in some industries were mostly due to seasonal activities or increased wage rates.

Most of the decreases were due to reductions in working time, resulting from vacations, inventories and repairs.

TAKE $81 AND AUTO FROM CATSKILL MAN

Leon June, a delivery clerk at Young Brothers' grocery, West Bridge street, was held up at the point of a revolver by three bandits three miles west of Catskill Tuesday night and relieved of $81. June was returning from making deliveries in the vicinity of High Falls. The bandits took his car and fled. Later the machine was found by state troopers about a mile from the scene of the holdup. The three bandits escaped in a dense forest.
